Kiwanis Club Told of Aug. 8 Speedboat Races

Speedboat races, slated for Sunday, Aug. 8, on the Mississippi River near the Hartford Canal, were the principal topic of discussion Monday evening at a weekly meeting of the Granite City Kiwanis club.

Fifteen members attended a dinner at the Rose Bowl and participated in a business session which followed. Herbert R. Schannott presided, and the weekly program was eliminated.

Plans for the annual boat races, which are co-sponsored by the Kiwanis and the Bowline Boat club, were presented by Wilbur Waggoner, chairman of the Kiwanis race committee. He said a joint session is being planned with boat club representatives.

The show annually attracts hundreds of spectators to the river bank. Entrants and boat classifications are to be announced later, Waggoner reported.

Many Vacancies Remain in Venice 'Head Start' Classes

Efforts to increase enrollment in the Venice school district's "Project Head Start" program are still underway, with home visits to families having children eligible to start kindergarten this fall.

Presently, 34 pre-school youngsters are enrolled in the federally-financed Venice program, which is geared to handle 90 pupils.

Reports yesterday from the Granite City administrator, Raymond Tom Jones, and Vernon Brown, Madison superintendent of schools, indicate that both believe the program is proving successful in their respective districts.

Granite City has an enrollment of 83 and this is expected to increase to 90 within the next week, while 90 children are participating in the Madison program.

Raymond Draughl is serving as administrator for the Madison phase of the pre-kindergarten preparation project, which is being conducted at Blair school. Enrollment is limited to 15 pupils in each class in order to provide more personal guidance to the individual child.

Primarily, the program is concentrated upon the emotional, physical and psychological development of each child to better prepare him for more formal training. Dental and physical examinations are planned for the five-year-old youngsters, who will enter school for the first time this fall.

Madison primary grade teachers who are supervising Project Head Start are Mrs. Addie Darden, Mrs. Margaret Green, Mrs. Alice McCurtis, Mrs. Marian Simms, Mrs. Virginia Washington and Mrs. Betty Williams. Miss Nina Dittman, Madison school nurse, also is participating in the program.

Six teachers' aides and several volunteer workers are assisting in the seven-week project, which is financed with funds obtained through the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission.

David Burris, 2413 Wilson avenue, reported at 2:10 p.m. Tuesday that he lost his wallet containing $20, his driver's license and papers.

Enforcement of New GC Fire Prevention Code Beginning

A new Fire Prevention Code as recommended by the American Insurance Association, formerly the National Board of Fire Underwriters, adopted by Granite City this month, will be enforced initially by Assistant Fire Chief Curtis Donley and within a short time by other members of the fire department.

Fire Chief Earl Fronshager told the Press-Record the new code sets up regulations governing conditions hazardous to life and property from fire or explosion.

The code gives the fire chief authority to modify provisions of the code upon application in writing by a property owner or lessee when there are practical difficulties in carrying out the strict letter of the code, "provided the spirit of the code shall be observed, public safety secured and substantial justice done."

Regulations under which conditions are to be controlled to prevent hazardous conditions are outlined in copies of the American Insurance Association code filed with the city clerk.

Fine, Jail Penalties

The code provides that any person who fails to comply with orders issued under the code, or those who build in violation of specifications or plans approved by the code, or who fail to comply with any order as approved by the fire chief, can be considered guilty of a misdemeanor.

Penalty for conviction of such violations is fixed at a fine up to $100 for each violation, or one to 10 days in jail, or both fine and jail sentence.

Imposition of a penalty for one violation will not excuse the violation or permit it to continue, and all such persons will be required to remedy the violations of defects within a reasonable time.

HOME SAFELY in a cloud of dust is Granite City's Bob Karandjeff, who slides under Alton catcher Randy Pace in the sixth inning. Karandjeff, who opened the inning with a single, scored on Bruce Thompson's hit to make the score 5-0 in the American Legion playoff game.

Post 113 Wins Zone Title 6-0

Thompson 1-Hits Alton, Dillard, Johnson Homer

Bruce Thompson's one-hit masterpiece and two early home runs carried American Legion Post 113 to a 6-0 victory over Alton Post 126 and the 27th District's Northern Zone Championship yesterday at Wilson Park.

Granite City advances to the district playoffs, a best two-of-three series with Southern Zone champion Belleville. The series opens at 6 p.m. tomorrow at Citizens Park, home of the Post 58 Hilgards. The second game will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Wilson Park No. 1 diamond with the third, if necessary, at 2 p.m. Sunday in Belleville.

The only hit off righthander Granite City, who had taken their only two losses from Alton in regular season play, this time, Alton's bespectacled batter (his of nine starters wore glasses) couldn't touch the horn-rimmed Thompson.

Thompson fared 23 batters, Kennedy also reached base on a fifth-inning error but was erased in a slick double play, second baseman Steve Friley, shortstop Larry Dillard to first sacker Larry Johnson. Harry Munson drew Thompson's only walk in the sixth.

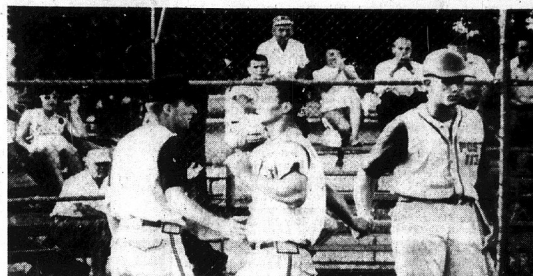

The former Granite City high school moundsman had no strike outs in the first two innings but got 11 of the last 14 outs on the strikeouts. He struck out the side in the fourth and sixth innings.

More Fast Balls "I threw more fast balls than usual," Thompson said after accepting post-game congratulations. "My fast ball was breaking in on the righthanded hit."

Kennedy, who went to second on Jim Bonafede's tap to the mound in the second inning, was the only Alton runner to get past first base.

The victory broke a first-place tie between Alton and Granite City, who had finished the regular season with 10-2 records. The local team walked into the deadlock, taking a forfeit win over Edwardsville here Tuesday.

It was sweet revenge for the GOOD START for Granite City came in the first inning as Larry Dillard smashed a two-run homer. Dillard (center) is congratulated after crossing the plate by Joe Fanning (left), who was on base, and next hitter Joe Hauptman.

SCOOPING LOW THROW from shortstop Larry Dillard, first baseman Larry Johnson of Granite City retires Alton's Don Jouett for the third out of the second inning. Johnson later homered in the game.

MBC Rallies To Overcome Ballwin 7-4

Mathews-Blue Circle came from behind last night to defeat Ballwin 7-4 in Class AA League softball. Ballwin led 4-2 going into the final frame until the local squad picked up five markers for the contest.

MBC scored two times in the first inning on Babe Champion's single, two walks and two errors. The team scored off him when Champion started the uprising in the seventh with his fourth single. Art Borchers followed with another base knock, and Dan Reilly doubled. A walk and Dan Stegmeyer's single brought two runs, another off him when he bled a throw to the plate and Mel Tipton then singled in the final run of the game.

Tipton allowed eight hits and struck out two batters while yielding only one. Three of the four runs scored off him were unearned as his team committed four errors.

Champion led the hitting with four safeties in four at-bats. Tipton went three-for-four in helping his team cause.

MBC will be playing in Springfield, Mo., this weekend with a doubleheader on Saturday night and another on Sunday afternoon.

Debbie Hodge was a double winner for Paddlers, taking Freestyle and backstroke races. The Granite City relay team dominated the meet, limited to children aged 6-10 who had not swum before.

The entire Paddlers team is home to Town & Country at 6 p.m. today in the first Southwestern Illinois Swimming Association meet of the season.

Kuehn tops the Belleville team with a 469 mark on 15 hits in 32 tries. Next are third baseman Ray Rohr with 429, 15-for-35, and shortstop Dale Tate at 389, 14-for-38. No other Hilgards, however, are above the 300 mark.

Ritchie Hurls Farmers to Win

Steve Ritchie's six-hit pitching and Buddy Jones' slugging guided the Farmers to a 7-3 win over the Blue Pumas last night in the High School Slow-Pitch Softball League at Wilson Park. Ritchie had a three-hit shutout going into the seventh inning when the Pumas came up with three markers. Jones had a double and a triple in three at-bats.

Three home runs powered Granite City Sheet Metal to a 12-3 conquest of Roca. Jim Harkney and Dan Partney each flamed a homer and a triple; Jim Rains also collected a round-tripper for the winners. Mick Petrillo contributed a pair of safeties to the Roca cause.

The King's Men flexed their muscles in a 14-1 rout of the YMCA. Chuck Kunkin led the assault with two home runs in as many official trips to the plate. He received considerable help, however, as Doug Winfield, Bill Evans and Gene Bryant each hit circuit drives. Rich Bledsoe chipped in with three hits in as many at-bats. Connie Yarns got a pair of doubles for the YMCA.

In a make-up game, the King's Men again had their hitting clothes on as they collected 27 hits while outclassing Roca 22-4. Joe Hauptman had a five-for-five performance for the victors.

Also contributing to the bombardment were Vince Debeve Evans and Bledsoe with four hits apiece and Bryant with a homer.

Roca got three hits in as many at-bats from Mike Lewis, who also hit a round-tripper.

As a result of their two wins, the King's Men are now the loop leader with a 5-2 record.

Mitchell vs. Hearts As I-C Play Resumes

Southwestern Inter-City League play resumes Sunday after a week of inactivity due to the all-star game break.

Of special interest to local fans will be the encounter between Mitchell A.C. and Sacred Heart on the diamond directly behind the Mitchell School. In an earlier meeting, the Hearts took a 4-3 decision at Wilson Park.

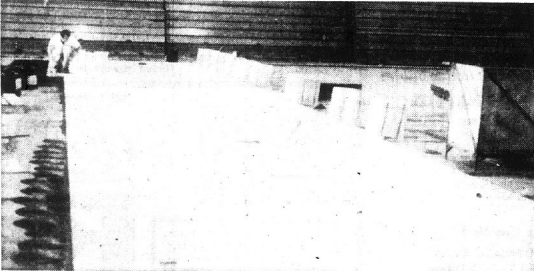

Mitchell could conceivably move into second place in the Blue Division with a victory if both Mercer and St. Clair should lose their games.

It is also possible for this first-year entry in the Inter-City League to be only a game out of the coveted first spot at the conclusion of Sunday's play. Mitchell

NEW GYMNASIUM FLOOR at Granite City high school is being installed this week with work to be completed in time for the opening of school. Here stacks of continuous strip maple flooring are piled across Memorial Gymnasium. The project, to cost $17,174, is being done by the St. Louis Flooring Co. The new flooring will cover 12,000 square feet.

INTER-LOCKING MAPLE SLATS stretch across the width of the GCHS gym floor, blocks installed in 1955. A cork base under the new flooring will act as a cushion for athletes.

Partney's Bat Helps Second Baptist Win

Second Baptist emerged victorious over Good Shepherd 15-9 in Quad-City Church League slow-pitch softball action Tuesday night.

Dan Partney spearheaded the winners' attack with a 3-for-4 performance. Including two home runs and a triple, Junior Burgess led EUB with four hits in as many at-bats and was aided by Joe Bruile, who had three safeties in four trips to the plate.

Pontiac Church of Christ won a 7-0 forfeit over Nameki Presbyterian.

CLOSE-UP VIEW of floor installation as lone workman labors on the project. The new floor is being financed with a $17,000 refund received on the GCHS bleacher purchase, following a state suit on behalf of various school districts.

Mesta Blanked By Ray Watson

Ray Watson fired a four-hit Tuesday night as the Good Fellows downed Mesta 7-0 in Classic League fast-pitch softball at Wilson Park. Watson struck out eight, walked none.

The Good Fellows jumped off to a three-run edge in the first inning on P. E. Robinson's double, Marv Brokaw's single and Jake Hinterer's triple. Minter and Watson each contributed two hits to the winners' attack.

Using eight walks along with five hits, the A-C Contractors defeated Kierchner Hardware 5-3. A-C won with two runs in the seventh on two walks, a double by Steve Schardan and successive singles by Grant Taimajin and Dave Sparks.

Dan Graville slapped a triple and homer for Kierchner. A-C leads the Classic League with 6-1 record.

Park Sponsors Trip to Glennon Grid Game

On Aug. 27 the Granite City park district will sponsor a bus trip to the Cardinal Glennon Memorial football game, when the St. Louis Cardinals meet the San Francisco 49ers.

Of special significance to local fans will be the first appearance in St. Louis of John David Crow with his new ball club. Crow was traded for Albe Woodson to the Cardinals during the past winter.

Two buses will depart from 27th and State streets at 7 p.m. The cost of bus transportation and a ticket will be $4.

Anyone interested in attending should call the Wilson Park office, TR 7-3455, to make reservations. Last year's trip to this game proved to be quite successful. Supt. Harold Brown said the trip.

Girl Stars Play Saturday

the downstate fisherman

by pete brown

High water, slim stringers and short tempers more or less characterized Southern Illinois fishing atmosphere the past week.

Reports varied from downright dismal (Crab Orchard Lake) to promising (Lake of Egypt and Little Grass) but the norm is decidedly sub-average.

Lake Murphysboro bass fishermen are gloomily convinced that there aren't any big ones left there. The bluegill catch is down too, although rod-bending one-pounders keep hitting with enough frequency to keep the lake in the news. It's in the fishing conditions.

Bomber Connects

Ralph Dillow of Carbondale brought to net a 5-pound bass at Little Grass, best entry on area logs. He was fishing a Bomber. Other Grassy catches: Jack Burns, Belleville, 3, 2 1/2 and 2-pound bass on the Bomber; Bud Maher, Marissa, a 1 1/2-pound bass and 16 nice bluegill and Rodney Fassett, Columbia, three small to medium bass on the plastic worm.

Lake of Egypt is clear with some cloudy spots and bass, catfish and bluegill rate pretentions at that order. Max Lane, Cahokia, caught three, Walter Dog, Hackensack, Evansville, limited on one and two-pounders fishing minnows. Top catch was a four-year study of returns and expenditures reported on goose hunting in Alexander and Union counties.

The survey showed more than $1 million spent on goose hunting and management, more than the value of raw agricultural products and more than half the amount paid in wages by manufacturing concerns in those two counties during the period.

"To some extent the expenditures of hunters contribute directly to the wages of many employees in the wholesale and retail trades, and directly to virtually every other business group," Klimstra reports.

Klimstra, who is director of the SIU Cooperative Wildlife Research Laboratory, says current management procedures for the Mississippi Valley Canada goose flock probably are more complete and successful than those for any other game species.

He warns, however, that the maximum goose potential of such areas as the Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge can only be realized because of multiple use practices.

Eagles Rally to Win Slow-Pitch Contest

Union Strich, making a bid for its first win of the season, had a five-run lead going into the bottom of the seventh in Open League slow-pitch softball at the Wilson Park field. However, the Eagles rallied to tie the score and sent the game into extra innings.

In the eighth, Union Strich scored three times to again take the lead but the Eagles, not to be denied, came back with four markers to win the contest 14-13.

Leading the winners' attack was Junior Bennett, who batted out three doubles, and Ralph Buege, with three safeties in four trips to the plate.

Bill Fullerson got four hits and Russ Peters elated a home run for the Starchmen.

Boys participating in the park's baseball school will occupy 100 seats. The remaining seats are available to any persons interested in attending the game.

The only cost will be 50 cents for bus transportation. Four buses will leave 29th and State streets at noon. Anyone interested may inquire at the Wilson Park office.

Six Goes Six-for-Six In High-Scoring Tilt; Larry's Corner Wins

Leo Six hammered out six hits in six at-bats and Bill Portel (featuring Local 16 in an extra-inning game 23-18 in 25 & Over League slow-pitch softball Monday night at Wilson Park.

The winners trailed in this umpire's delight 15-13 at the end of six innings. In the seventh, they scored five times to take the lead. Local 16, however, came back with three runs in the lower half of the frame to knot the score at 18-18 and send the contest into overtime. In the eighth, Larry's got five markers while the losers were held scoreless.

Ray Buckingham had the barrage of hitting by Local 16 with four-for-four performance, in clutching three triples and a homer. Carl Lindberg and Tom Harris, batted out four hits apiece, and Cotton Singler got three, including a round-tripper.

In another extra-inning game, Jacobson's edged VFW 8-7. Carl Harrison collected three singles for VFW. John Allen came through with a pair of doubles and a single for the winners, who were also aided by Les Thompson's inside-the-park home run.

State Park Petitions For Stormwater Relief

Six hundred State Park Place residents this week presented a petition asking the East Side Levee & Sanitary District to take action on "hillside drainage." They reported two feet of water in their area following a recent heavy rain; five flash floods in the past ten years were cited.

The flood waters actually come from the Canton Creek Levee & Sanitary District, it has been contended. East Side Levee officials have offered use of equipment to the Canton district if it will repair its levee to protect the State Park area.

He became ill again and fainted at Monday's hearing, being taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital for treatment.

black ink and farther away from coverage cancellations.

One illustration that seems inaccurate when applied to the Quad-Cities is the conclusion that this community contains a preponderance of the type of homes on which the loss ratio is most severe.

It is true that some sections of the Quad-Cities contain older and smaller dwellings. But this kind of residence is not the worst offender, insurance records disclose.

Costly Homes, High Losses
A survey by a major insurer pinpointed highest loss ratios among homes in the $25,000 to $50,000 bracket. Next highest ratios were in the under $10,000 group.

Lowest loss ratios occurred under each form of insurance where the amount of coverage ranged from $15,000 to $25,000. It is in this range that the Quad-City area—with its high percentage of home ownership, extensive middle-income level and rapid postwar growth— has an exceptionally large number of homes.

If the Quad-City area has been inaccurately labeled, part of the explanation may be that there is a "statistics gap."

Big insurance companies base much of their operations on statistical findings and projections, but there is too much of a delay in putting some of the facts and figures to use.

Time Lag Gives Wrong Answers

An official of a Quad-City insurance agency has told the Press-Record, "Many big insurance companies have fast computers, but they still are not coming up with the right answers. They generally base their records on a five-year period and don't include the year immediately past."

This means that they are basing their current decisions on the experience from 1958 to 1963. But 1958 figures don't tell them what's going on in the Quad-Cities today.

He expressed the hope that they "keep their own house in order" to avoid tighter governmental controls—or governmental competition with private insurance companies.

Currently, controls are administered by state insurance bureaus, and most companies encountered by the Press-Record in its current study indicated general satisfaction with the Illinois bureau.

The average Quad-Cityman may feel dwarfed by the sheer size, the complexity and the large number of insurance companies. But he is represented by the Illinois Inspection and Rating Bureau and the Illinois Department of Insurance, which understands insurance matters and have broad powers in regard to the firms writing policies in this state.

Role of Bureau
The inspection or rating bureau is the rate-making organization for most property insurance companies doing business in a state. Its responsibility is primarily to the public, and also to the affected companies and their agents. In some states, its decisions are subject to the approval of the state insurance department.

State staffs of sufficient size and capabilities, with adequate financing, are viewed as important. Of the insurance fees and premium taxes paid to states, generally less than 4% finds its way into the insurance department budgets, a level which many insurance authorities regard as inadequate.

To assure the highest quality of insurance regulation, there also is sentiment for separating insurance departments from all political influences. This is accomplished, at least in part, through establishing by law high standards of qualification for commissioners, and then appointing them for extended terms of office.

To help maintain stability in the conduct of the vast property insurance business, state commissioners have for the past 94 years been members of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners.

Despite differences of opinion over what is an adequate level for insurance rates, it is a widespread belief that regulation at the state level is the most efficient, fair and effective way of supervising an industry which has become so extensive that it exercises a vast influence on society.

Suit Challenges Authority of Air Pollution Board

A circuit court proceeding to challenge the authority of the Illinois Air Pollution Control Board was filed Monday at Edwardsville in behalf of Bud Brown, operator of the Midway Landfill on Route 203 south of Madison.

The suit protests the Illinois board's order banning trash burning. It asks that board action in seeking an injunction and penalty against Brown for failure to comply with a June 15 deadline to halt open burning be dropped.

Brown alleges in the complaint that the board lacks jurisdiction, failed to honor a request for a continuance of a May 5 hearing and has violated his privacy. Favoritism and unequal administration of the law are alleged.

Charges Powers Exceeded
The board, charging that open burning at the landfill is causing pollution of the atmosphere, ordered Brown on June 4 to discontinue the practice by June 15. Brown's attorney alleges that the board is not a hearing body and "by acting as a judicial, legislative and administrative body far exceeds its constitutional right."

Brown was not represented at a public hearing May 5 in East St. Louis when he and other dump operators had been cited to appear and show cause why their landfills should not be closed for causing air pollution.

Brown's attorney, Eldon M. Durr of Edwardsville, said he requested a continuance but his letter was not acknowledged, and an alleged telephone call to a board member the day of the hearing is denied by the board.

Others Complying
Two other dumps, the Suzanne Landfill and a dump operated by the LaMear Sanitary Haulers, Inc., have been producing little or no smoke since the June 15 deadline.

Granite City, Venice and Madison, which operate dumps in which open burning has been banned, have been given until Sept. 4 to comply.

The three cities have been investigating installation of incinerators and other methods of trash disposal.

Illinois Expedition Land

Historic Hotel Once Was a Stagecoach Stop

From a stage stop to a gracious hotel, still clinging to the traditions of yesterday—that's a thumbnail story of famed Wittmond Hotel in Brussels, Ill.

Brussels, wedged in between two rivers, on the southern tip of Calhoun county, is an old town still basking in the river lore of the past. Even today, the town is isolated, with one main artery leading north to Hardin as the only exit road.

The Illinois river is on one side of the town, the Mississippi on the other. The Golden Eagle ferry, south of Brussels is an exit to the Missouri mainland, near St. Charles.

But, landwise, Brussels has only one road leading out. In pioneer days, this made the community even more isolated. Supplies came in via boat before the ice cracked the rivers. After winter closed down, Brussels was cut off from the rest of the state.

Horse and Buggy Days
Until the advent of the automobile, salesmen coming into Calhoun county to serve the various communities couldn't make the trek in a single day. Using horse and buggy, so inevitably they put up at the Wittmond Hotel.

Even before the Civil War, this venerable hotel was a stagecoach stop on a well-used trail. The building today has been modernized and redecorated.

But if you visit the site, your host will show you an arched doorway and one long narrow room that originally was an open "dog-trot" between two segments of the building, in which pioneers could drive their wagons and unload their cargoes.

The building is built much like the Old Slave House, in Saline county, Ill., that had the same "dog-trot" in the center of the building. Here, slaves were driven inside the building before unloading for overnight stay—part of the underground movement in the traffic of human souls.

But there is no record that slaves ever were quartered in the old Wittmond Hotel. Evidently the same type of building structure was fairly common in the time the hotel was built (1847), and the dog-trot was used merely to bring in the cargo, vehicle for easier unloading.

Carl H. Wittmond, representative from his district in the state Congress, is the third-generation owner of the old hotel. Today, the red brick structure has been modernized, and air conditioned, as a tourist stop.

A family-style dinner served here on weekends often brings as many as 500 people to Brussels, simply to dine in the old stagecoach stop. The dinners always feature three kinds of meat. Word-of-mouth keeps the dining room well filled during the seasonal months.

Home-Cooked Apple Butter
Another feature at the old hotel is its own home-cooked apple butter and jellies. With apple orchards surrounding the town, apple butter is part of the autumn work schedule.

Up-river at Eytowen is the spot where Sheriff Lammy was killed by the notorious Dalton gang. This is a part of Expedition Land you'll enjoy. When touring Calhoun county, don't pass up the old Wittmond Hotel in Brussels; here is history as deep rooted as the river itself.

For additional information concerning Illinois Expedition Land, send for the free 32-page tour brochure which goes into detail regarding various points of interest within the region. Write to Tourism, Box 566, Belleville, Ill.

Rotary Told of World Conditions by Traveler

The high rate of illiteracy in India and the apparent dependence of a vast section of the populace on government aid were points related by Miss Beatrice Cooley, a world traveler, who related local school teacher, who addressed a luncheon meeting of the Granite City Rotary club in the YMCA Tuesday noon.

The speaker went on to describe her tour through several Far Eastern countries last year, during which time she visited Japan, Hong Kong Thailand and India. Portions of her journey were made by air and the remainder aboard ship.

Customs and attitudes of the people were of special interest to Miss Cooley. She discussed religious symbols observed in Japan, telling of those who worship at Shinto shrines when seeking material prosperity and in the temples of Buddha for eternal life and spiritual guidance.

In Japan, she toured numerous shrines and cities where traditional customs dating back through the centuries still are observed with historical accuracy.

While many new industrial complexes are being constructed in India, Miss Cooley pointed out

GCMS Band to March In Homecoming Parade

The Band Parents club of Granite City high school met in the band room for a monthly meeting Tuesday evening. There were 20 present, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Meek served refreshments. It was announced that the Band will play for the Jaycees' Homecoming July 24, marching in the parade.

The following have been elected officers for the 1965-66 school year: president, Bernard Sheppard; vice-president, Rodney Zand; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Hamilton; recording secretary, Mrs. Doris Nicol; and treasurer, Gilbert Hall. There will be no meeting in August, and the next scheduled meeting is Sept. 14.

that the average Indian lives in comparative poverty, relying mainly on government relief. She recounted practices which religious sects follow, specifically noting the differences between the Moslem and Hindu doctrines. In India, she visited Calcutta, Delhi, Ceylon and Kashmir.

Thirty-eight attended the meeting, conducted by William Huxel served as program chairman and introduced the guest speaker.

Additional Groups to Attend Municipal Opera

Due to the increasing number of local residents who are taking advantage of the Granite City park district's theatre excursions by air-conditioned bus to the St. Louis Municipal Opera in Forest Park, Harold Brown, park superintendent, announced today that additional buses will be provided for three shows previously listed as sold out.

Extra bus service and tickets will be available for next Tuesday's performance of "Cinderella" on Aug. 10 for "Flower Drum Song" and Aug. 31 for "Camelot."

Several reservations on the supplemental buses already have been made. Brown urged those interested in attending any of the three shows to call the park office at TR 7-3059 for information. Cost of the tickets and transportation is $3.25 per person.

The park official said his office will secure a bus and theatre tickets, at the same rate, for any organization which can arrange a party of 45 persons. He added that three non-scheduled trips are booked for local groups for the final performance of "Camelot" Aug. 31.

Farm Column

By Truman M. May
Madison County Farm Adviser

Milk production records may be expected to be 90% as effective as a combination of milk and butterfat records when used as the only basis for selection for herd improvement.

Ralph Johnson, dairy extension specialist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says that dairymen can use milk production records to cull low producing cows and to select breeders for herd replacements with confidence in their accuracy.

An analysis of the records of over 20,000 dam-daughter pairs of the Holstein breed and over 2800 dam-daughter pairs of the Jersey breed shows that milk yield alone is a reliable basis for selecting for genetic improvement of the herd to increase production. It is known that high milk yield is inherited to a greater degree than is fat yield.

The Weigh-A-Day-A-Month record program makes it possible for every dairymen to have milk production records on individual cows.

Under this plan, the dairymen weighs the milk from each cow on the 15th of each month. He writes the milk weights on a record sheet and mails it to his county farm adviser. In return, he gets a record of the milk production of each cow and also herd averages.

Dairymen who are interested in this simple, low-cost record system should notify the farm adviser's office.

Four varieties of soft wheat yielded four bushels more per acre than the average yield of three hard varieties in the test plot grown by Bergman-Taylor Seeds of St. Joseph. The wheat averaged 66.6 bushels per acre and the hard varieties averaged 62.6 bushels.

Highest yield in the plot was 72.5 per acre by Reed, a soft variety. Yields of the other soft wheat varieties were Vermilion 71, Monarch 67.5 and Knox 62.1, 56 bushels. Kansas Triumph was the highest producing hard wheat, with 67 bushels, followed by Ottawa 63.3 and Illinois Triumph 63 bushels.

Test weights and moisture were adversely affected in all the varieties by the heavy rains, which delayed harvesting the test about two weeks. Most of the varieties lodged considerably, with the Reed, Monarch and Ottawa strawing the test.

The same difference of four bushels per acre in soft and hard wheat yields resulted from the variety test grown by Vernon Keller of Edwardsville township, with the soft varieties yielding an average of 62 bushels per acre and the hard wheats making 58 bushels.

A demonstration of pond management will be held the afternoon of July 22 at the farm of John A. Peradotti, three miles east of Edwardsville on Pin Oak road, starting at 2 p.m.

Weed and algae control in ponds will be demonstrated by Roy Lockart, fishery biologist, State Department of Conservation. He will also demonstrate the use of an electric shocker to determine fish population and growth.

This will be an interesting demonstration for people interested in pond management, especially those with weed control and fish management problems.

Premium lists and programs for the annual Madison County Fair at Highland July 27-31 are available at the fair office at Highland and at the farm adviser's office at Edwardsville.

Entries are being received for the annual county 4-H Club Show at the fairgrounds July 26-27. All club members planning to exhibit their projects should send in their entries promptly.

Heavy rains last week, as much as eight inches in some parts of the county, caused much crop damage in bottom lands and slow-draining areas. There continued to be much variation, with some communities in the eastern part of the county getting less than an inch.

Some corn and soybeans were drowned out and some wheat has been lost. Much corn has tasseled and is now making ears. Moisture supplies should be ample for good crops if the weather is reasonably good from now on.

The annual county Black and White Show of the Madison County Holstein Club will be held at the fairgrounds at Highland the evening of July 21, starting at 7 p.m. All people interested in Holstein cattle are invited.

Members of the Madison-St. Clair-Monroe Vegetable Growers' Association will hold their annual picnic at the association hall at Caseyville Aug. 8.

Adlai Stevenson—Residents Here 'Remember Him Well'

Funeral services for Adlai Stevenson will take place Monday in Bloomington Ill., his boyhood home, after the U. S. ambassador to the United Nations died in London, England.

The 1948-52 governor left his mark on the Quad-Cities area in 1952 and 1956—and on the nation—as Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956—and on the world—as a widely-traveled and eloquent speaker and official. The state police raid he ordered in 1950 permanently halted operation of two local gambling casinos.

Gov. Stevenson included the Quad-Cities in his unsuccessful national campaigning and local national campaign merit system.

Mecca to Study Air Pollution Control Methods

A study of plans for future administration of air pollution control, possibly by the East-West Gateway Coordinating committee, will be made by the Metro-East Chambers of Commerce Association, which will invite a representative of the St. Louis Air Pollution Commission to discuss the topic at its next meeting.

Meeting in regular session at the Mecca group withheld a committee plan, following a discussion of the possibility that the East-West Gateway committee may become the administering agency of air pollution control when a U.S. air pollution control study is completed in St. Louis and a final report is made later this year.

When the final report is made, the U.S. study will be dissolved, with the administration turned over to some other group.

Mecca members indicated that if the East-West Gateway committee is to be the administrator of air pollution control, it should be active in suggesting names of persons to serve on the committee. Some members suggested encouraging Illinois and Missouri to form a pact under present legislation and name a two-state commission to supervise problems in connection with air pollution.

While it was decided to make no recommendation or take a position until further information is received, several members pointed out that when the final report is made near the end of this year, if Mecca prefers to support local rather than federal administration, it should have a plan ready.

Industrial Development
The association also deferred action on affiliation with the St. Louis Regional Industrial Development Corporation.

Francis Kaar of the Greater Alton Association of Commerce spoke in favor of RIDC, outlining what he termed were the advantages to participating areas through use of RIDC office services on data and sites to urge location of new industry in this area. Kaar said the commission has pledges of $150,000 and in the near future will computerize information on locations for new industries.

Mecca members also briefly discussed the recent formation of a bi-county Urban League.

Home After Surgery

Edmond King, 1420 Edwardsville road, returned home Monday from McMillan Hospital, St. Louis, where he underwent ear surgery.

The annual county Black and White Show of the Madison County Holstein Club will be held at the fairgrounds at Highland the evening of July 21, starting at 7 p.m. All people interested in Holstein cattle are invited.

Members of the Madison-St. Clair-Monroe Vegetable Growers' Association will hold their annual picnic at the association hall at Caseyville Aug. 8.

Wagner Bottling Gives Madison Lot For Public Parking

The city of Madison will have additional free parking space in its business district.

The city council Tuesday night accepted as a gift a tract of land from the Wagner 7-Up Bottling Co.

The property is adjacent to the city fire hall at the rear of a confectionery. An old warehouse formerly used by the bottling firm is to be razed.

The gift was arranged through Pete Skundrich, building inspector and William L. Harris, general manager of the firm. "The council accepted a quick claim deed to the property."

Power Substation
The council authorized drawing of an ordinance for the sale of 2½ acres of its new industrial park on the basis of low bids.

Illinois Power Co. is offering to buy or lease the property located in the northeast portion of the park, to erect a substation to serve Granite City Steel Co. and other possible industries which may locate in that area.

Bids are necessary for the sale of the property but not for a long-term lease.

Bridge Property
Mayor Stephen Maers called for firm arrangements for the sale or lease of distressed property adjacent to the Chain of Rocks Bridge north of the toll station on the Missouri side of the Mississippi River, with the AP Leasing & Development Co. of St. Louis.

A major development which would be "beneficial to future bridge traffic," is to be located at the site.

"The type of development is still to be announced officially. The Gilchiff real estate agency is handling arrangements."

Another inquiry was received from the Gilchiff agency on the lease or sale of 10 acres of the northeast part of the city's industrial park to a local firm wishing to expand. The city's legal department was instructed to make a study and determine how the city might benefit.

Sidewalk Contract
A contract to widen and repair sidewalks in West Madison was awarded to the General Contracting Co. on a low bid of $21,162.

Mayor Maers reported that final engineering plans for McCambridge avenue improvement have been forwarded to the state highway division, and work on the project may be underway before winter.

"The annual public library report for the 1964-65 fiscal year showed 2804 registered borrowers, 50 non-registered borrowers and 147 volumes added to the stock. 50,694 volumes circulated, total receipts of $13,636 and a balance at the end of the year of $7,637."

Police Convention
The council authorized Police Chief Emmett Pavia to attend the annual convention of the Illinois Police Chiefs' Association Aug. 1, 2 and 3 at Peoria with expenses of $100 paid.

The mayor announced that hearings have been held in circuit court on condemnation of a dilapidated house in the 1400 block of Third street owned by a man now in federal prison. A judicial order is expected soon permitting the city to raze the property.

The council withheld for study a $80 bill submitted by Shepard, Morgan & Schwaab, consulting engineers, for inspection of city traffic signals.

Marshall & Stevens, appraisal engineers, reported replacement costs of city buildings to be $685,128. The survey was made for insurance purposes at a cost of $50.

Ill. Bridge Crew Working; Walkout By Missouri Unit

Work on the last half of the new toll-free Chain of Rocks bridge by carpenters of Local 633 is continuing despite a walkout by members of the Carpenters District Council of St. Louis. It was reported Tuesday.

The walkout of 12 St. Louis carpenters has shut down work on the west half of the bridge and involves a dispute over the firing of a foreman.

Twelve carpenters of the local district council working on the east half of the bridge walked out in sympathy July 25, but went back to work July 1. Unions from both sides of the river have been sharing the bridge work.

The bridge was scheduled for completion Nov. 15, but work had fallen five months behind schedule before the carpenters' walkout.

L. S. Davy, general superintendent of the job for the contracting company, has been conferring with union officials, who seek reinstatement of the foreman, Oliver Martin. His dismissal occurred June 24 for "insubordination," according to Joe Brown, project manager for the Fackman & Hansen Construction Co.

The bridge will carry Interstate 270 traffic across the Mississippi River.

PLAN FOR ANNUAL MEXICAN FIESTA

The Mexican Honorary Commission held its monthly meeting Sunday afternoon at Ernie's and the restaurant. The group discussed plans for its Mexican fiesta, which will be held on Monday, July 26, at the Hungarian Home, 1801 Spruce street.

There will be a variety program, which will be directed by Mrs. Elva Ortiz and her assistants, Mrs. Mary Scanlon, Terry Valencia and Judy Bracemont. The event will celebrate the independence of Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfonso Martinez, 1748 Spruce street, entertained with a barbecue Sunday afternoon.

The following guests were present: Mrs. Joanne Gonzalez and son, Steve; Mrs. Elva Ortiz and children, Steve and Juan; Mrs. Ann Kosick, Mrs. Mary Ann Domitrovich, Miss Julia Lotzy, Miss Lorraine Bennett and Robert and Richard Martinez. Mr. Martinez also prepared Mexican food.

Driving Most Popular Outdoor Recreation

Baseball may still be the national pastime, but a new form of recreation has become the number one "sport" for most Americans.

The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads has found that driving for pleasure is the country's leading form of outdoor recreation. Thirty-four percent of all auto travel is by people who are sightseeing or vacationing.

Where we do our driving is revealed in another Bureau study. Two-thirds of the Nation's road mileage is still unpaved.

Most of our driving is done on the superhighways of the Nation's interstate system. The Bureau estimates that only 384 billion on urban streets and highways.

To accommodate the summer surge to secondary roads, highway officials are now treating much of the unpaved mileage with a chemical that keeps dust in the air.

In the summer, it does its job by holding moisture in the road. A treated road looks slightly damp, as if a soft summer shower had just fallen.

Officials say the treatment is better than waste oil because it sticks to the asphalt and does not splash or scatter cars. Many states have treated road side parks and rest areas to eliminate dust.

Such treatment solves a maintenance problem by keeping dust from the air and the road together. Without "dust," a road soon develops potholes and becomes rough, literally falling apart.

Conduct Charge Filed

Michael Consiglio, 18, of 2337 Ash avenue was arrested at 2:30 a.m. Wednesday on a disorderly conduct charge. Police alleged he took two hushes from a station wagon owned by Robert Bowles, 3125 Davis avenue, three hours earlier. Consiglio was ordered to appear for a hearing Friday.

Damaged on Bridge

A 1965 auto was damaged extensively in the front end at 8 a.m. today when the driver, Lawrence Taylor, 55, St. Louis, lost control of the car and it struck a guard railing. The railing also was damaged. Taylor was headed west on the west approach. The car had to be towed away.

Man Faces Two Charges

Joseph Bloodworth, 49, of 2116 Iowa street was arrested at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday at West 20th street and Illinois avenue on charges of being drunk and creating a disturbance.

Miss Kuhnrich is a student at the Jewish Hospital nursing school in St. Louis. She is a graduate of Granite City high school.

Installed at the meeting were: Edgar Horton commander; Wilbert Niepert, senior vice-commander; Dan Smith, junior vice-commander; Henry Fabian, service officer; Harold L. Summers, finance officer; John Tempo, sergeant-at-arms; Hugh Oglesby, historian; Gene Ross, chaplain; Herbert Strickland, adjutant; and Frank Toth and Abner Branning, executive members.

Joseph Summers, immediate past commander, and Niepert reported on a fifth division convention held Sunday at Lawrenceville.

It was reported that the post's Legion baseball team had tied for the northern zone championship. The team won the playoff game against Alton Wednesday, 6-0.

Horton and Joseph and Harold Summers are to attend the state department convention as delegates on July 20 at Chicago. Niepert and Don Short are alternate delegates.

Amid reports that draft quotas will be increased due to Viet Nam escalation, 42 Granite City youths will report tomorrow for Army pre-induction physical.

Nicknames for the 42 Granite City youths will be announced this week at the Madison county office of the Selective Service System.

Nicknames for drafting will be 19 for physical exams and 20 for induction. In the recent past, the ages were 20 for physicals and 21 for induction.

So far this year, 38 Quad-Cityans have been inducted—two in January, two in February, one in March, 10 in April, five in May, five in June and 13 this morning, on July 8. The largest group was one of the largest in years.

Newly-announced August quotas for 33 Madison county men to be inducted Aug. 6, including seven Quad-Cityans, and 138 county residents to report for pre-induction physicals Aug. 27, including 42 Quad-Cityans.

Defense Secretary McNamara said yesterday that new U. S. troop increases in South Viet Nam probably will make it necessary to consider calling up military reserves, extending tours of duty and enlarging draft calls.

Coordination of GC City-Park-School Projects Explored

Initial step toward greater coordination of projects and increased cooperation in solving mutual problems between the three main taxing bodies in Granite City was taken last night when representatives of the municipal government, park district and school district met in the school board office.

Principal topic last night concerned general policies. An agreement was reached to form a steering committee to aid in establishing long-range goals, operational functions of the group and overall procedures.

Unanimous approval was given by those present to the establishment of a permanent working relationship between the three taxing agencies through quarterly or similarly scheduled meetings.

Three representatives from each taxing body will comprise the steering committee, with the delegates appointed by the head of the individual groups.

Supt. of Schools Russell D. Johnson was named acting secretary and was instructed to notify all groups when committee members have been named. Indications were that appointments will be recommended at the next formal meetings of the separate groups.

Agreement was expressed that many areas concerning the three taxing agencies are related and that each group could benefit from better communication and more awareness of mutual problems.

Unique Meeting

In brief opening remarks describing the purpose behind the unique meeting, Supt. Johnson said that regardless of the distribution of tax money to the separate groups, the source of favorable views and offered suggestions is the same taxpayer-citizens for future joint sessions. Several areas were explored through coordinated efforts.

While no specific goals were defined, several areas were briefly explored in which County, park board members, the public, Three included. William sewerage problems connected with construction of the new bridge, George E. Moore Sr., Ron-Grady junior high school, on old Dillard, Daniel Linder, Dr. Pontoon road and traffic bus, E. W. Walton and Royce Tim-

City high school and Coolidge junior high.

Monroe Worthen, school board chairman for last night's meeting, attended by 24 representatives from the three groups.

Among those who expressed views were Mayor Donald L. Partney, Larry Luman, park board president; Worthen; Aldermen Ed. Bortolucci, Gene Stern, Robert E. Robertson and Ford

Stehnhauer said a number of major changes will be necessary to meet the increased membership and program growth. The first major change to take effect, Sept. 1, 1965, will be reorganization from the present five districts to three districts.

The Unihof or Quad-City district will retain its present area. The second district will include the areas of Edwardsville, Collinsville, Litchfield, Jersey township and the cities of Oak Grove, Edwardsville, Glen Carbon, Marysville, Keokuk and Panama.

The third district will include Marine, St. Jacob, Helvetia, St. Paul, Leif township, Madison township and the cities of Granite City, St. Jacob, Marine, Grant, Keokuk, Keokuk, Keokuk and Panama.

This figure becomes 23,934 in 1965.

Registered boys in the council as of the end of 1965 will be 19,934. It is hoped that the figure will be 23,934 in 1965.

At the end of 1965, there will be an all-time high of 23,934 in the Cahokia Mound Council and by 1980 this figure may grow to 35,000.

Thrift Reports Here This Week

Burglars ransacked the home of Fred Schmitt, 21 Oakdale drive, while the occupants were away on vacation. It was reported at 6 p.m. Tuesday. It was known if anything was taken. Entry was gained by forcing rear door and wood doors with a small pry bar, causing considerable damage.

Carl Schull, 43, Excelsior Springs Mo., was arrested by a police officer Tuesday on a charge of stealing a truck tire from the Lindley Truck Service at Market street and Broadway. Police said theft of the tire was reported by Mrs. Bessie Lindley, who also alleged that Schull had attempted to sell a tire of the same size and description as the missing tire about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday. He was arrested at Schull's truck stop in Venice and denied the theft.

Extra Requests May Delay Or Jeopardize Federal Aid

Progress on the $75,000 project development tax grant being sought by the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission is currently at a standstill, members of the commission executive board were told Tuesday night during an executive session held in the county courthouse at Edwardsville.

Commission President George E. Moore of Granite City said status of the application will be the subject of a special meeting of the county group set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Alton YWCA.

He added that preliminary reports indicate the delay on approval of the application may derive from similar development appropriations being sought by two other groups in Madison county.

Application for federal funds have been made by the recently chartered Tri-Cities Economic Opportunity Council, headed by Roland Lewis of Venice, which Carbondale office attended.

No action was taken to name criteria employee physical examiners pending further contact with the local medical society. No reply had been received from a letter sent by the school district. The topic is to be acted on July 21.

An offer for three mobile classrooms in Perryville, Mo. was authorized, and sale of student desks was approved. Methods of financing a water line extension to Parkview school were discussed.

Charles Earnest Nicholls, 21, Granite City, was sentenced to a term of 75 to 125 years in the state penitentiary today by Associate Circuit Judge Fred P. Schuman for the murder of a maintenance man at the Arlington Heights country club last Feb. 4.

He was found guilty by a jury June 6 in the fatal shooting of Aaron Leggett, 36, who was shot nine times in his residential quarters at the golf course.

Judge Schuman, who denied a defense motion for a new trial, remarked that Nicholls had received one of the fairest trials in his experience as an attorney and judge.

Third to be Convicted

Nicholls' father, Earnest Lloyd Nicholls, 48, of Mitchell, who also was convicted of murder by a jury on a charge of arranging the killing, is scheduled for a hearing on a motion for a new trial next week before Associate Circuit Judge Austin Lewis.

A competency hearing was set for today for a third defendant, Paul David Kelley, 19, who had resided with his brother-in-law,

No Bids Called

Principal objection to the sewer project as outlined by township officials has been the lack of competitive bidding. The bond order, passed three weeks ago, provided for outright sale of the bonds to John Nuyven & Co., Chicago bonding firm, at interest rates ranging up to 4 1/2%.

Briggs and other town officials have maintained they checked with other bonding firms while preparing the sewer project and that the sale to the Nuyven firm was the best that could be obtained, even if competitive bidding were held.

Acceptance of the petitions was the only major business of the town board meeting.

Charles Hanks, highway commissioner, announced that he has begun a program of eliminating all old junk auto licenses that are unlicensed.

Others to whom the haulers were jacked upon blocks, Hanks said such old cars will be towed away in the future.

during this two-hour period.
Although Maple, south of Niedringhaus, is one-way southbound, six vehicles traveling north on this street during the two-hour period. In addition, the counters observed a high degree of violations of the stop control at these intersections.
This emphasizes the contempt which motorists develop over control and misused control. INTERSECTIONS OF WASHINGTON WITH 23RD AND 21ST STREETS:

Washington and 23rd is controlled by a four-way stop and Washington and 21st by a three-way stop, due to Washington being a one-way northbound street north of the intersection. The traffic volume on Washington and 23rd street, approach the volume warranting a traffic signal. During the two-hour count, 801 vehicles approached this intersection on 23rd street, and 1233 approached it on Washington.

However, a more extensive study should be made in order to determine the need for signals at this location, and any signal installation should be coordinated with other installations.

At Washington and 21st, the traffic is more one-sided. During the two-hour study period, 456 cars approached on 21st street, while only 135 were recorded on Washington avenue.

Considerable congestion was observed at both of these intersections. Such congestion is the obvious result of all approaching motorists being required to stop and then "jockey" for position to get through the intersection. INTERSECTIONS OF LEE AND 21ST STREETS AND STATE AND 23RD:

Both of these intersections are controlled by four-way stops; yet the traffic volumes are considerably different.

At 21st and Lee, 348 vehicles approached the intersection on 21st street, with only 212 approaching on Lee.

At 23rd and State streets, 891 vehicles approached the intersection on 23rd; while 563 approached on State.

The intersection of 23rd and State would appear to approach the volume warrants for signal installation, but again it is emphasized that this study was not extensive enough to determine the actual needs. CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS:
Although it is re-emphasized that the study conducted was not intended to be a comprehensive engineering study, certain conclusions are evident. There seems to be a general pattern of over control on the streets of Granite City. This has caused Granite City motorists to seek other routes than arterial streets to escape the congestion and confusion that goes with such over control. They have diverted to residential and other streets that were never intended to accommodate high traffic volumes, and where such volumes should be discouraged.

There is also evidence of contempt for traffic control on the part of many motorists in Granite City.

The purpose of all traffic control should be to move traffic, both vehicle and pedestrian, as safely, efficiently, and rapidly as possible. This is especially true on all arterial streets.

If this purpose is adhered to in establishing traffic control, the motorists will use the arterial streets because the movement on such streets will be better.

The Automobile Club makes the following recommendations as a result of the limited study conducted:

1. It is apparent that the stop signs on Niedringhaus at Poplar, Maple, Walnut and Chestnut are unnecessary and should be removed.

2. A traffic engineering study should be undertaken in order to (1) develop an arterial street plan for Granite City and (2) determine the needed controls on the arterial streets. All signs, signals, and markings on this arterial street system should be determined by sound engineering study and conform to the Manual for Uniform Traffic Control Devices.

While it is understood that such an engineering study takes time, the study should be undertaken as quickly as possible and implemented at the earliest possible date.

The expense of such a study, together with the installation of needed signs, markings and controls, will be much less than the expense now encountered by the motorists of Granite City with the present controls.

In addition, efficient traffic movement in a city attracts motorists. The benefits to the business and industry of Granite City from an efficient traffic control system, and the resulting benefit to the community as a whole, will be far greater than the cost involved.

Car Stops, Hit in Rear

A car driven west on 23rd street by Lucille Masterson, Caveville, struck the rear of another driven by R. V. Shubert, 1936 Benton street, who was making a stop for a red light at Madison avenue at 8 a.m. Wednesday.

Cravens Elected to GC Steel Co. Board

Kenton R. Cravens, chairman of the board of the Mercantile Trust Co., St. Louis, today was elected a member of the board of directors of the Granite City Steel Co. He fills a vacancy created by the death of Erwin Niedringhaus last month.

Cravens has been a commercial banker since 1938. He was elected president of Mercantile Trust in 1954 and chairman of the board in 1962.

He left the bank for 11 months in 1953 and 1954 to serve as administrator of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in Washington, D. C., and to direct the liquidation of that agency.

Active in civic affairs, Cravens is a former chairman of the board of the Chamber of Commerce of Metropolitan St. Louis, and has served as both treasurer and president of the United Fund of Greater St. Louis. He is a member of Civic Progress, Inc.

The board of Granite City Steel Co. today declared a third quarterly cash dividend of 35 cents per share of common stock, payable Sept. 15, to stockholders of record Aug. 25.

Auto Tampering, Heckling At Game Preceded Attack

Identity still is not known of the deep-voiced assailant who hurled a tumbler of acid and detergent last Saturday night in the face of Larry Curry, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Evan J. Curry, 4740 N. Main St. The youth was laughing from his auto in the driveway at his home when the attack took place.

An investigation is continuing by the Madison county sheriff's office.

Some degree of vision impairment is being experienced by the 17-year-old Curry, who is a high school graduate, who will learn the results of several eye tests this weekend. He was released Monday afternoon from McMillan Hospital, St. Louis, where he was transferred from the local hospital.

Auto Tampering

Curry's mother said yesterday that her son's auto had been tampered with on a number of occasions in the past month while it was parked near Wilson Park. She received three instances when her husband had been forced to go to the park area to assist his son in repairing loosened engine wires.

A connection between the automobile tampering and the acid attack is a strong possibility, a dials who said that not more than 12 persons who are not regular on full-time payrolls are being employed at the plant, and workers brought in after regular hours are not included.

Several supervisory and executive personnel have come from the plant at Columbus, Ind., the spokesman said.

With the exception of a new contract with the contractor handling the cafeteria, "there is not one person working in the plant who was not a salaried person on our payroll," the spokesman said.

A negotiating session had been called by U. S. conciliators for Wednesday morning in the Granite City Army Depot.

Austin said that when the meeting convened union officials asked if the company had anything additional to offer and were told that it did not.

"At that we broke off the meeting," Austin said. "We stand ready to set up individual air pollution control programs."

He also outlined the history of air pollution control at federal, state and local levels, and pointed out that with passage of air pollution legislation in Missouri, an Illinois-Missouri compact for regional control will become possible.

He said that under pollution control laws, a program section permits industry to offer a program outline to control boards. If the program of abatement is accepted, the industry is not considered in violation of the law while the program is being effected.

Challenge Operation

Company officials said that union officials declined to discuss anything except to challenge the company's right to operate the plant.

The company insisted that the meeting be confined to the arbitration issues, and withdrew from the meeting when the union insisted upon the company's interpretation of its "right to operate the plant" the spokesman said.

A company spokesman said many of the persons assisting in operating the plant are remaining within the plant at all times to avoid passing the union picket line.

Resumption of operations followed distribution of a letter by the company to all employees; the three major items now at issue were discussed. The letter was addressed to all hourly employees.

Statements in the letter were challenged by a union officer.

"As you are aware, your local officers and international union have effected a work stoppage. The reasons for this work stoppage concern three issues, namely:

"1. Grievance Procedure: In this area your union has requested 'Voluntary Arbitration.' This means that when we have moved through pre-arbitration, both the company and the union would have to mutually agree to arbitrate. If such mutual agreement is not reached, the union would be free to exert economic pressure through strike action as a final step in settling a grievance.

"This is totally unacceptable to the company. Why? This could result in frequent costly work stoppages and this would result in the company losing business, service to our customers, our customers' ability to meet competition and could endanger your job and your wages.

"We firmly believe that the present grievance procedure provides a sensible and orderly means of settling grievances in the best interest of not only the union and company, but most importantly—the individual employee.

"2. Craft Reorganization and Apprenticeship Training: Under the current contract, the union and company agreed that in order for the company to remain competitive in the wet milling industry, some changes must be made in the alignment of the existing crafts and in the apprentice training program. Thus far, the union has failed to recognize the commitment it made in this area.

"Since craft reorganization and apprenticeship training are important to be competitive position of the company in our industry, the company is flexible but is still waiting for a positive union proposal on the subject.

"Wages: When these two problems areas listed are resolved, we believe that a wage settlement could be made within a reasonable period of negotiations.

"Under the circumstances, to fulfill our responsibilities to our customers and shareholders, management believes it is necessary to operate the plant.

"The company negotiating committee has advised both your local and international union officers as well as the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service that it is prepared to negotiate, at any time, to a successful conclusion."

Union Opinion

Robert Cantlon, recording secretary of Local 7-663, issued a statement to "all who are operating the Union Starch plant":

"As you should know, but seem unable to realize, we are on strike because of a grievance by our local union body of the so-called proposal, not just because our local officers and international union said so, as the company states in its letter of July 12.

The letter says voluntary arbitration is totally unacceptable to the company. The grievance procedure, as it has been administered in the past, is totally unacceptable to our local.

"The company has only one answer to a grievance no matter how justified the grievance is. That answer has been 'No.' It has never tried to live up to the contract, except when it benefits the company alone. Therefore, the grievance procedure, having been ruined by the company, is no longer of any value to us."

"As for the company's unwillingness to accept the monthly employees who were laid off to know, spy and listen on each other and on the hourly employees?"

"Due to the caliber of people in charge at Union Starch & Refining Co., the company is surprising no one with its threat to protect the plant."

Industries Pledge Air Pollution Control Aid

Industry in the Quad-City area will cooperate to the fullest extent in preparing individual programs for smoke abatement or other forms of air pollution control, William F. Hoelscher, general manager and secretary of the Manufacturers Association of the Tri-Cities, told a meeting of the Granite City Air Pollution Control Board Wednesday night.

The board met in the city hall for a regular session.

Hoelscher's declaration was in response to a resolution passed by the board calling upon area industry to set up individual air pollution control programs.

Hoelscher said this will be done by all 20 of the manufacturing industries in the Quad-City area except in instances where there is no economic or engineering feasibility for such a program.

He also outlined the history of air pollution control at federal, state and local levels, and pointed out that with passage of air pollution legislation in Missouri, an Illinois-Missouri compact for regional control will become possible.

He said that under pollution control laws, a program section permits industry to offer a program outline to control boards. If the program of abatement is accepted, the industry is not considered in violation of the law while the program is being effected.

SUMMER VACATION HAZARDS multiply when there is heavy traffic. This pictorial quiz contains hidden dangers. See if you can spot the particular danger lurking in each picture. Then, remember that these and others are awaiting you on streets and highways.

Quiz answers:
A. The alighting passengers you don't see are the biggest threat. When you see people leaving the rear of a bus, remember that others leaving from the front are hidden from view and may dart suddenly into your path.
B. Driver in car parking at curb at right may thoughtlessly open car door as you approach.

C. With his car's trunk lid up, the driver ahead has blinded not only his vision, but his mind to traffic moving behind him. Here he is stopping short, unaware of your car. Give him plenty of room.
D. Man unloading parked truck at right is a special danger because his vision of your car will be blocked by object he is carrying if he turns to cross the street.

E. The truck double parked at left hides in its shadows a car emerging onto the road with its driver's vision blocked. Unless you spot this car before it enters your lane, a collision may result.
F. Ball rolling into street might be followed by a running youngster. Good drivers are alert to even the smallest dangers.

Man Held in Dental Collection Fraud

Walter Collier, 38, St. Louis, was held by Venice police today on three charges of deceptive practice involving solicitation of advance payment on orders for dental work that never was performed, officers said.
Collier was turned over to Venice authorities by Alton police late Wednesday. He faces similar charges in Alton, but posted bail in these cases Wednesday afternoon.

Venice police said Collier had been sought for three months following reports that a number of Venice residents made down payments on dental work, "and never heard again from Collier who, police alleged, is neither a dentist nor a doctor."

Collier is charged with obtaining $155 from Henry Vernon, 403 Weaver street, $35 from Essie Williams and $50 from Ernest Griggs, both of whom live at 1111 Market street.

Freedom's Meaning

In a government of free men, every public employee, elected or appointed, has an inescapable obligation to scrupulously observe and completely protect the basic human rights of his fellow citizens. Free men rely on these rights for freedom, justice and equality in their relations with their government and their contacts with each other.

Granite City Museum Proposed

By HARRY J. SEGEDY
Curator Of Exhibits,
Southern Illinois
University Museum

I was born, grew up in and am a frequent visitor to Granite City.

While I have not lived there for the past ten years, I still consider Granite City my home town, and while there I try to keep abreast of developments in the community.

It is with a certain amount of pride that I note that the public facilities there are developing at a rate equal to or faster than the population.

The school system is excellent. The public parks and recreational activities are extremely well developed. And the city government, deserves another All-American City award for its effort.

But to my absolute amazement, among this highly developed civic organization there exists with the exception of a library an almost perfect cultural vacuum. This problem existed during my period of residence, but there also existed at that time a great deal of apathy toward the problem.

This, however, does not seem to be the case today. I have noticed from my contact with local residents and in statements made in the Press-Record a growing awareness of this problem.

It might even be said that Granite City seems ripe with interest in a program of cultural development.

I would like to suggest at this time that you thoroughly consider the development of a museum as a method of filling this void.

Because of my occupation I am cognizant of the benefits a museum can offer a community both culturally and educationally, but possibly you are not. I should stress at this point that I am speaking of a museum in the modern sense and am not referring to a dark, musty building housing huge collections of miscellany.

The museums of today have become extremely important cultural centers and are being built in communities all over the country and the world.

In fact, many of them are no longer called museums but rather Cultural Centers.

The modern civic museum is primarily an educational and public service institution and its primary purpose is that of supplementing and helping to establish a higher cultural environment for all age groups. It can do this in many ways.

It can supply mounted animals, artifacts of historic interest, biological models, etc., to teachers in the local school system for use in classroom demonstrations.

It can educate adults and children in their leisure time with exhibits designed to educate. Examples of such exhibits are "What Is Pop-Art," "The Pre-Historic Inhabitants of Granite City," etc.

It can offer classes, lectures and films on subjects not included in the school curriculum (nature, art, history, geology, etc.).

And further, it can act as an organizer and center for meeting place for hobby and special interests groups, and guided tours to various groups, "Y" clubs and other organizations.

The above are only a few of the possible services a museum can offer its visitors and patrons.

In a less direct sense, a civic museum can also offer a focal point around which the citizens can rally civic pride.

Naturally, the extent of the development of the museum would determine the extent of its services, but as you can see even a relatively small museum would be a valuable asset to a community like Granite City.

The size and extent of development of a museum is determined by its financial foundation. And a museum can be financed in many ways.

Some are entirely tax-supported. Others are financed by grants from foundations, endowments, public and industrial contributions or by a combination of the above.

It would seem that in a community as prosperous as Granite City, it would not be difficult to obtain the necessary funds to build and operate a Cultural Center or museum.

I believe the vehicle for the governing of a museum already exists in the park board, but I am not familiar enough with the organizational structure of that body to be certain of this.

While museums come under the jurisdiction of parks and recreation commissions in many communities, there are numerous ways of operating them.

It would seem logical, though, that since the park district fulfills the public recreation needs of some citizens, it could also be the body to fulfill the cultural-educational needs of other citizens. This is something that can be studied further if you are interested enough in my proposal to verify its feasibility.

I am sure that if you check with teachers in the school system, especially those of the elementary level, or with civic organizations such as the Jaycees, Optimists, Kiwanis, Junior Minerva Club, etc., that you will find sufficient interest to warrant further study of this proposal.

If you wish to proceed with the concept of a modern museum you may feel that the benefits that I imply are exaggerated because I have a vested interest in museums. To some extent this may be true.

Because museum work is my chosen profession, I am dedicated to advancing its cause. But for the same reason I am also vitally aware of the benefits that museums have to offer the public.

The fact that there are approximately 300 museums in this country and that over 200 million people visited these museums last year is testimony to the importance of museums in this country's social and educational life.

A further indication of their growing importance is the fact that the average American museum is organized in the United States every five days.

The above figures and wild statistics but actual figures compiled by the American Association of Museums in Washington, D. C.

I hope that my statements have been sufficient to whet your interest enough to make a proposal further study. If it has, I would be happy to send any of the literature to you. A list of publications that cover the subject much more thoroughly than I can in a letter.

Journalism At The Grassroots

By Basil L. Walters
(Former executive editor,
Chicago Daily News)

The best and the deepest literature that comes to my desk is the "Grassroots Editor" (published by the International Conference of Weekly Newspaper Editors).

Here is represented American thinking at its best, intelligent—but undisturbed by the fuss and the fury of the great brainwashers who struggle to control the national mind.

Here, brought together in consistent and most instructive format, is American basic culture at its best.

I have recently returned to the "grassroots" community where I was born after having spent the major portion of my life in metropolitan journalism.

In the reprints of the editorials and the poetry from the so-called "grassroots" I find a new interpretation of the joys of the small community that make life so enjoyable.

Horace Greeley told young men to go west.

I use every opportunity to tell young men and women interested in newspaper careers that the grassroots newspapers as well as the large dailies offer great opportunities for those who seek useful and exciting lives.

Each is equally important in the development of the individual in quality and quantity, is at the grassroots.

And I tell graduates, at men and women must be as well trained and educated to serve in grassroots journalism as in metropolitan journalism.

While the grassroots papers may never permit themselves to drift away from the most important function of keeping neighbors informed of deaths, births, the schools and the local culture, the editors must also be unafraid to challenge the giants.

A new national "giant" television, must be watched especially.

While the coverage of the assassination and burial of President Kennedy was masterful and justified, the implications of the emotion created are still being felt.

Missed, as it could be at some future date in time of great national crisis, this "new tool" could be used for purposes as sinister as those for which Hitler used the then new—and mysterious

Quad-Cities Will Take $14 Million Federal Building If St. Louis Does Not Want It

Our neighbors across the river don't seem to be able to agree on disposition of their old downtown postoffice. Some want its architecture preserved as an historical landmark while others favor replacing it with a modern $14 million federal office building. And so the hassle goes on—and on—and on.

We didn't want to make this suggestion earlier because we are reluctant to pin our hopes on other cities. But since a federal legislator has now warned that St. Louis might lose on both counts if the feud isn't resolved quickly, we feel free to urge that consideration be given to locating the new federal building in the Quad-Cities.

This community is close enough to the center of the metropolitan area to warrant serious study as an alternate building site. There is quick and easy access to almost every facility; also, the hundreds of employees working in the Quad-Cities find much more convenient and comfortable to live in, as well as more economical.

We are confident General Services Administration, the agency handling the proposed new building, would be open to suggestions with open arms should it decide to look in this direction. In fact, there is nothing wrong in local community leadership making the first move.

A bachelor is said to be a man who goes through life never knowing his imperfect he is.

New Plant Points Up Importance Of Steadily Expanding Job Base

A Chicago firm's decision to locate a scrap metal plant on a 25-acre site in the Quad-Cities again points up the value to this community of an industrial development. Thirty more jobs will be provided, and these will create additional jobs in the trade and service fields.

For the future of the Quad-Cities, its residents and all children and grandchildren, it is important that all put aside other considerations and work to sustain a climate conducive to steady expansion of the employment base.

This immediate area and the mid-America region are on the threshold of a great era of growth and prosperity, if they take advantage of the opportunities which will arise.

Quad-Cities Ideal Site For State Medical School

Formation of a local committee to aid in seeking a state medical school in the southern half of Illinois can lead toward remedying a lack that has been pinpointed by the State Board of Higher Education.

Although the location remains undecided, there is unanimous agreement that a new medical college is essential if there is to be an adequate supply of doctors in southern Illinois.

This reason alone justifies strong support from the Quad-Cities. In addition, geographical and other factors suggest that the local community would have much to offer as the site of the proposed school.

The old have never understood the young; why expect anything else?

Dr. SIMS says . . .

SAFEGUARD YOUR HEALTH

A PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE ILLINOIS STATE MEDICAL SOCIETY

87,000 DIABETICS IN ILLINOIS DON'T KNOW IT

While diabetes can be easily controlled, it continues to rank as the eighth leading cause of death in Illinois.

Why? Because only about half of the state's estimated 192,000 diabetics are aware of their affliction and only 25 percent are properly treated.

It is a mass media, controlled by a great extent nationally, and linked together for instantaneous nationwide coverage. It is easy to see, or even perhaps more dangerous—its independence could be gradually eroded.

I do not mean to imply that such a danger is imminent, but the American dream as realized by our system of checks and balances. A strong and trusted grassroots press is an important part in providing such a "check and balance."

While TV, radio, national magazines and books are essential in the communications setup, only a strong grassroots journalism, close to the people, can provide a proper forum at which the American dream can be realized by our system of checks and balances. A strong and trusted grassroots press is an important part in providing such a "check and balance."

While anyone may become diabetic, the condition is found primarily in people with a family history of diabetes in their family, those over forty, the overweight and those with a family history of diabetes. Heredity plays a big role in this disease. In fact, diabetes is five times more common among offsprings of diabetics than others.

Those over forty: Because the

Presidential Disability Amendment Deserves Ratification By States

Illinois and at least 37 other states ought to act favorably on presidential disability, ratifying it as the 25th amendment to the U. S. constitution. Although not perfect, the proposal eliminates most of the uncertainty regarding steps to be followed in the event a president becomes ill.

Now that Congress has acted, it will be up to state legislatures to make the guidelines official. It is believed that the necessary three-fourths approval may be obtained by 1967.

One part of the amendment provides that if the office of vice-president becomes vacant, the president is to nominate a successor, who would take office upon confirmation by majority votes in the U. S. House and Senate.

Other sections make the vice-president acting president if the nation's chief executive becomes incapacitated or otherwise unable to discharge his duties.

If a president notified Congress of his disability, the vice-president would take charge until the president sent word that he was able to resume his powers. If the top official was unable or unwilling to declare his disability, the vice-president would become acting president if he and a majority of the president's cabinet—or a majority of another body Congress might later provide for by law—sent a two-thirds vote in both the Senate and House, the vice-president would continue to act as president; otherwise, the president would resume his duties.

The plan seems to be a good one in that it would throw a coup by a power-hungry vice-president, but would not permit a seriously disabled president to remain in charge of the nation. Neither extreme should be allowed to happen in an era when a power grab could mean mismanagement or "hand on the throttle" could have such destructive results.

Neither extreme should be allowed to happen in an era when a power grab could mean mismanagement or "hand on the throttle" could have such destructive results.

Focus Was On Youth In The 1965 Legislative Session

"Those who think young" turned out to be the members of the 1965 Illinois General Assembly, who spent much of their session deliberating over bills affecting people who cannot even vote for themselves—teenagers.

A tabulation at the close of the session showed that both the House and Senate had voted to ban minors from consuming alcohol, require those who obtain parental consent to obtain driving licenses, prohibit under 18, and replace family courts with juvenile courts. Revocation of driving licenses was authorized for "drag racing," curfew violation and auto theft.

Almost as long as the list of proposals not acted upon favorably. Included were raising compulsory school age from 16 to 18, revoking the driving licenses of high school dropouts, repealing the state curfew, curbing teenage marriage, banning driving by minors convicted of buying liquor, requiring driver education course graduation to qualify for licenses and raising the minimum driving age from 16 to 17.

It is apparent from the types of legislation considered that current conduct of the younger generation is of substantial concern to lawmakers. The impact of teenagers' increased use of autos on the rest of society, their continued use of alcoholic beverages despite a state ban, were referred to in more than half of the teenage bills introduced.

That state officials are uncertain which are the best remedies is indicated by the large number of proposals they defeated. Even more of the legislation may fall by the wayside through gubernatorial vetoes.

We suspect there will be no lasting solutions until the public in general and parents in particular become convinced that a halt should be called. When this happens, the tides of change will once again sweep across the Quad-Cities and Illinois, and new social control standards and attitudes will come to the fore.

Trend To Direct Student Action

(Hamden, Conn., Chronicle)

Commencement time, 1965.

Ironically, it was only four or five years ago that the same commencement speakers were urging students to restrain themselves in the new world of student activism and involvement.

Now, it is the graduates who are being urged to become involved, to stand for something. The undergraduate world took this to heart and, almost predictably, has swung to the other extreme.

The new surge being urged on undergraduates today appears to be "responsible commitment" in its thought and action. It is a new surge, and again in commencement addresses everywhere.

Yule's Kingman Brewster Jr., in an extremely noisy, radical address as president of the university, put it this way:

"Action first, doctrine second, was Mussolini's proud boast. It finds a modern echo in the so-called new radicalism, which is a passion of self-indulgence and involvement overrides all counsel of self-restraint."

It was not too long ago that much was being made of the new conservatism, presumably growing out of the disaffection of the country among undergraduates.

It was eventually proven that the new conservatism was basically a reaction to the radicalism of the right wing group that represented a very small proportion of the country's youth.

It is probable that the new radical left is much the same: a noisy, small minority giving over the country's youth for most representative of students as a whole than it really is.

Eight Granite City Girl Scouts here from the River Bluffs council left Wednesday by train for Pocatello, Idaho, and the fourth international Girl Scout Roundup which opened today. It will continue to July 28.

They will be among 20 girls joined others in Kansas City, from this area and 9000 Senior where they boarded a roundup special. On the return trip, they will spend a day at Glacier National Park.

Among the group from here are Alta Bollinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Bollinger, 3000 Willow avenue; Marilyn Bondegard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bondegard, 3305 Franklin avenue; Elizabeth McDonald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McDonald, 3600 N. Main; Cathy Zenk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Zenk, 3228 Walnut avenue.

One of nine adult staff members will be in Idaho. The purpose of the roundup is to permit the girls to participate in the largest outdoor event for teenage girls in the western world, to meet with girls from all parts of the U. S. and other countries, to explore with them the progress and problems of our nation and the world, and to become inspired, informed and educated for the roles they will play as citizens of tomorrow.

Theme of the event is "Girl Scouting a Promise in Action" and the slogan is "On the Trail to Tomorrow."

BOB KUBAN, national recording artist whose seven-piece band will play at a special Teen Town dance from 8 to midnight Tuesday in the YMCA gym. Tickets at 51 may be purchased at the "Y" desk or at Teen Town. Non-members will be charged an added 50 cents at the door.

1000 Housing Units Planned for SWIU Campus; 250 Apts.

Housing for 1000 to 1500 students will be constructed on the main campus of Southwestern Illinois University, and plans are being made for 250 campus apartments for married students, Ralph Ruffner, university vice-president, announced this week.

Opening date for the first housing units is set for 1967, according to Keith Moyer, housing director, who added that by the early 1970s the university will need 8000 on-campus and 8000 off-campus housing units.

John Randall, university architect, said details of the buildings and the locations are being completed. Details of financing the structures were discussed at a meeting Tuesday.

50% Ratio Planned
Moyer said a 50% ratio will be maintained between on and off-campus housing here, and that construction of the on-campus units should not discourage private contractors from building private dormitories for students in the area, since the need will be far greater than available campus space.

Private developers, however, have been having difficulty with lack of water supply, inadequate sewage disposal systems and zoning regulations in the Edwardsville area, Moyer said.

Randall said apartments for married persons will be for students, graduate assistants, faculty members and visiting professors.

The university decided to build the on-campus units because of inadequate housing facilities in the area. The university expects an enrollment of 5200 students this fall.

She plays the clarinet and he is a bassoonist. Their trips were sponsored by the Madison Rotary club. Both will be seniors at Madison high school and were Cleveland Blvd. Louise Becherer, selected on the basis of technical ability and scholarship.

10 Area Students Make Dean's List at College

Ten area students attending Illinois State University, Normal, Ill., made the dean's list for the second semester of the 1964-65 year.

Sharon Reinhardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emer Reinhardt, 2805 Iowa street, made straight A's. Others on the list are Mary Anne Baumann, daughter of Rev. club. Both will be seniors at Madison high school and were Cleveland Blvd. Louise Becherer, selected on the basis of technical ability and scholarship.

A. O. Smith 'Safety Sampling' New Tool in Drive for Industrial Safety

Vincent Pollina had tried everything—even trading stamps and posters—to get people to work safely.

Yet, industrial workers continued to confound him, as they do safety experts, by injuring themselves.

Then, Pollina developed "safety sampling," a new and scientific approach to industrial safety. The new technique is producing dramatic reductions in on-the-job accidents for the A. O. Smith Corp., where Pollina is director of safety.

Random Sampling

Safety sampling involves the random and rapid pinpointing of conditions before the accidents themselves happen. The theory is derived from industry practice of inspecting at random the number of objects and, from this, determining the quality of the entire lot.

A basic part of the plan is a safety sampling code, which uses Dancy decimal system breakdowns for 15 major types of unsafe acts and conditions.

These range from personal activities—horseplay and running—to operating dangerous machinery without authority, not using safety devices or tools, handling material unsafely, poor housekeeping and fire hazards.

To develop this code, which now consists of about 180 different unsafe acts and conditions, Pollina researched A. O. Smith's accident data back to 1953 for causes of disabling injuries, first aid cases, doctors' cases and near misses.

Safety Scores Charted

Armed with the code, safety engineers random-check A. O. Smith manufacturing operations on a regular basis, by departments and sections. Each observation of a safe act or condition is checked off on a theater counter, an unsafe observation is logged on a chart using the decimal system of notation.

An "unsafe score" is determined by dividing the total number of unsafe observations by the total number of observations. The resulting percentage tells a department how well it is doing. The lower the percentage, the better the safety performance. The percentage is also relative to the hazard potential of an area.

"By studying the rules of probability, it is possible to forecast accurately how safely a plant is working, where the trouble spots are, what infractions exist and which supervisors are lax in enforcing good safety procedures," said Pollina.

Accurate Advance Picture

Results of Pollina's safety sampling go to the foremen, the general foremen, shift superintendents and on up through the management levels. This places accident prevention responsibility on the line supervisor. In addition, it ties this responsibility to his supervision at all levels and gives all management an accurate picture of plant safety.

Pollina stressed that the new safety sampling approach, even though it is based on a scientifically validated principle used by quality control people and industrial engineer cannot, by and of itself, transform an unsafe operation into a safe one. "It will work only," Pollina said, "if it is superimposed on a sound foundation of a basic accident prevention program."

ARMED WITH SAFETY CODE, safety engineers random-check A. O. Smith Corp. operations for accident producing acts and conditions. Observation of a safe act or condition is checked off on a theater counter (lower right); an unsafe observation is logged on a chart using a decimal system description of 180 different unsafe acts and conditions. From this data, safety performance can be calculated and steps taken to prevent accidents before they happen.

This new system, which is now being copied by other companies, is credited with reducing A. O. Smith's accident frequency rate to an all-time low in 1964 of 2.74 disabling injuries per one million man hours. This is less than one-half the nation's all-industry average and compares with a 3.96 rate set by A. O. Smith in the previous year.

Even more dramatic results are being achieved at the Milwaukee headquarters plant of A. O. Smith, where sampling has been in use for two years. The big diversified manufacturing firm is presently introducing the concept at some of its other plants throughout the nation and it will be in use at all of them within a year.

Hazards Growing

Pollina views safety sampling as a "bright spot" in safety engineering efforts to reduce accidents, the potential of which is constantly rising as production processes become more complicated and as more and more products are produced.

In addition to cutting the accident frequency rate, safety sampling is credited at the A. O. Smith Milwaukee plant with a 25% reduction in first-aid cases, a 30% cut in the number of disabling injuries and a similar reduction in the severity rate and a slash of 50% in overall accident costs.

The program saves A. O. Smith about $1 million a year which otherwise would have to be paid out in workmen's compensation and for medical expenses, Pollina said. But, more important, is the human suffering and pain which is spared, he added.

10 Homes for Madison

Ground was broken Monday for construction of 10 modern, priced air-conditioned homes on Kennedy drive, Madison, by Jim Pex, contractor. The brick homes will have three bedrooms and full bathrooms.

Buying Plans Will be Topic of Census Survey

Families in this area will be asked their intentions to purchase homes, cars and major household appliances as part of the U. S. Bureau of the Census July Current Population Survey. Director Theodore F. Olson of the Bureau regional office in Chicago said today.

The questions on consumer intentions will be asked in addition to regular inquiries on employment and unemployment asked by the Bureau each month for the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the U. S. Department of Labor.

The questions will be aimed at determining:
1. Plans to buy a house within the next 12 months and the next 24 months.
2. Whether in the next six months any member of the family expects to buy a car, washing machine, refrigerator, television set, air-conditioner, clothes dryer, dishwasher or hi-fi equipment.

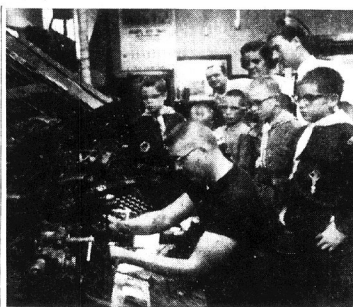

The information will be collected during the week starting July 19 from selected households in this area as well as in other areas throughout the U. S.

Census Bureau interviewers who will visit families in this area in July include Mrs. Josephine L. Lister and Harold P. Caldwell.

Farm Safety Week Observance

Triangular Emblems for Slow-Moving Vehicles

Such vehicles as farm machinery that travel at 20 miles per hour or less on main highways are about 100 times more likely to be involved in collisions than vehicles traveling at 45 miles an hour, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture safety specialists.

Often the problem is simply that an ordinary motorist does not realize how slowly the vehicle ahead is moving until it is too late to avoid a collision.

To combat the dangerous clash between slow-moving and high-speed vehicles, National Farm Safety Week, July 25-31, will feature the new, easily identifiable Slow-Moving Vehicle emblem.

New Accident Reduction
The National Safety Council, the American Society of Agricultural Engineers and the Automotive Safety Foundation, joint sponsors of the emblem, believe that it could reduce this type of traffic accident substantially if adopted on a nationwide scale.

Developed recently by two Ohio State University researchers and extension specialists W. E. Stuckey and K. A. Harkness, the SMV emblem is designed so that higher speed motorists can quickly recognize a slower vehicle at the distance by day or night.

The new triangular, fluorescent-reflected emblem, 16 inches wide and 14 inches high, is meant for vehicles designated to travel below 25 mph, such as farm implements and highway maintenance and construction equipment.

It is not a replacement for the usual flags, reflectors and red warning lights but, rather, supplements them by telling the approaching motorist that "This is a slow-moving vehicle."

Damaged in Madison
Auto driven by Talmage D. Harris, 815 Twenty-fourth street, and James McNease, 217 Roosevelt drive, were damaged at 2:30 p.m. Monday in a collision at Fourth street and Madison avenue. Both were headed south and collided as McNease started to make a left turn onto Fourth street.

Returns From Hospital
James O. Dykes, 1904 Delmar avenue, has returned home from Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, where he was a patient for three weeks while recovering from surgery.

Pfc. Labaroy Being Assigned to Far East
Pfc. Labaroy, 3043 Myrtle avenue, left Wednesday to return to Camp Pendleton in California after a month's leave spent visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Labaroy, 3043 Myrtle avenue.

From Camp Pendleton, he will be transferred to the First Marine Air Wing in Japan and the Far East.

Man Working Out Fine
Leon A. Barrett, 37, of 849 N. Broadway avenue, was fined $25 plus $5 costs each on charges of intoxication and profanity Tuesday by Magistrate Hecourt and was permitted to work out the fines for eight days. He was arrested at 7:20 p.m. Monday at his home.

2 Charged with Fighting
Gerald M. Jiles, 30, of 2221 Lee avenue and Robert L. Ellis, 38, of 1426 Third street, Madison, were arrested at 9:20 p.m. Monday at 1901 Adams street on charges of fighting. They were released on $25 cash bail pending hearings July 22.

Miss Pool Recovering
Miss Caroline Pool, 12084 N. Broadway avenue, is recovering at Jewish Hospital, St. Louis, from surgery. She underwent the hospital last week to undergo further treatment.

The parade will assemble with a police escort at 3 p.m. Sunday along West Pontoon road and proceed along Pontoon, Nameoki road and Madison avenue, 19th street and Niedringhaus avenue. # Schedule for Miss Oros

"Latest information from Quincy, site of the 1965 Miss Illinois pageant, shows that Miss Kathy Oros will present her talent presentation tomorrow evening last night, she competed for honors in the evening gown division and tonight will make her appearance in the swim suit segment of the contest.

Ten semi-finalists, chosen from 38 contestants in the three-day preliminary contests, will repeat the three phases of the pageant on Saturday night, climaxed by crowning of the next Miss Illinois.

As in the local pageant, the state winner is selected on the basis of points accumulated in three categories: best appearance in a swim suit, 25%; best appearance in an evening gown, 25%; and talent presentation and personality, 50%.

Miss Oros will be attired in mid-Victorian costume for her performance of "Just You Wait, Henry Higgins," taken from the hit Broadway musical, "My Fair Lady."

Acting, Singing Ability

A student in the speech field at Eastern Illinois University, she lists dramatics as her hobby. Her role as Eliza Doolittle affords an opportunity to show dramatic talent along with singing ability. For her portrayal of Eliza, she will wear a high-necked white blouse and floor-length black worsted skirt, reminiscent of the Victorian era.

The new Miss Granite City is a five-foot, seven-inch tall brunette who weighs 122 pounds. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Oros, 2841 Washington avenue. During the summer months, she is employed as a secretary at Granco Steel Co., St. Louis.

Limited Distance Urged For Brief Vacation Trips

"Put safety into your vacation package, and you'll come back relaxed and well-rested," Quad-City traffic and safety authorities pointed out this week as the vacation season climbed toward its mid-summer peak.

"One yardstick drivers should use in planning a vacation is to allow a distance of no more than 100 miles away from home for every day of the vacation. Thus a safe trip for a week's vacation would be a distance of no more than 700 miles from home, or about 1400 miles for a two-week vacation."

"Whether your vacation takes 100 miles or 1000 miles, make a habit of always driving safely. Don't push the mileage. Keep under 400 miles a day for most employment and safer driving."

"Make occasional stops to relax, stretch or get a cup of coffee or soft drink. You'll be more refreshed for driving."

"Also, expect the unexpected. You may encounter detours, poor route slow vehicles and reckless drivers. Keep alert."

"Vacationers should allow extra time for preparation and planning when it comes to getting the automobile ready. Don't forget seatbelts. Have seatbelts installed and use them. In any accident, urban or rural, your chances of escaping injury or death are considerably greater if you are wearing them."

"Many people mistakenly believe that being thrown clear of the car during an accident increases one's chances of survival. Findings by Cornell University have shown conclusively this is contrary to fact, and that the risks of death are increased nearly five times when the person is thrown from a car."

Rezoning Approved For More Housing Units for Elderly

Rezoning of a 6.87-acre tract of land from single-family to multiple-family dwellings in the vicinity of Edwards street, East 24th street and the Rohn Gardens subdivision was approved Monday afternoon by the City Planning Commission.

The change will be recommended to the city council for final approval to permit construction of an extension of the Anchorage to provide a second 100 apartments for elderly persons.

Action on the rezoning was requested by the Granite City Housing Authority. The rezoning previously had been approved by the city council, but under city zoning laws action also had to be taken by the commission.

Dream Villa No. 4
The commission also approved a petition of Henry Boes for annexation of 16 acres to Granite City, and accepted a subdivision plat, subject to approval of the city engineer. It is for the Dream Villa No. 4 subdivision, an extension of Rose present Dream Villa subdivision in the eastern section of the city.

The 16 acres involved 69 lots which were zoned in single-family, two-family and multiple-family groups by the commission. The annexation, zoning and subdivision plat will be recommended for approval to the city council.

A request of a group of owners of 120 acres of Nameoki township territory for annexation to Granite City, with subsequent zoning, was discussed informally pending filing of a formal petition at a later date. The ground is located at the northeastern edge of Granite City.

Spaces Still Open for Stands at Homecoming

Local organizations interested in sponsoring concession stands (other entertainment will be in the annual Granite City parade performances by the Eagle homecoming July 23, 24 and 25) are being invited to contact Jaycees members Fred Bohagen, Bob Collins or Michael Day by Monday evening. The festival will be held on the rear parking lot at the Nameoki Village shopping center.

About ten local groups already have reserved spaces for booths, which will range from home-cooked food items to novelty games and skill contests for all age levels.

One of the highlights of the 14th annual national square dance event will be the appearance from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Saturday of "Mr. Zoom," a puppeteer who performs on "The World of Mr. Zoom," a children's

Square Dancers

Appearing Sunday evening for the third straight year will be the renowned Checkerboard Squares dance group featuring Shelly Boyd, seven-year-old caller who will repeat her widely-acclaimed performance seen at the 14th annual national square dance convention in Dallas, Tex. Several exhibition dances will be presented by the local youngsters between 6 p.m. and midnight.

Carnival rides and other entertainment will begin at 6 p.m. Friday, July 23. However, a parade is scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday, July 24, to mark the 1965 celebration's official opening.

Led by the Granite City high school band, the parade will assemble at 24th street and Madison avenue and proceed along Madison avenue and Nameoki road to the shopping center. Military units from the Granite City Army Depot, the Shrine's Chanters and other groups have indicated they plan to participate.

Others treated in the emergency room and released Monday were Byron Turner, six, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Turner, 1731 Rhodes street, Madison, who received four sutures in the left leg after being struck by a bicycle ridden by another child and suffering a jagged laceration; and Sally Jo Vincent, five, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vincent, Collinsville, who was struck by a bicycle, which she caught in a bicycle wheel.

Two Principals, Truant Officer Named by Board

Appointment of two new school principals and other changes at the administrative level were made Monday night by the Granite City school board, which also created the position of truant officer.

John Mulach, "block" class teacher at Central junior high school, was named principal of McKinley grade school to succeed Lee Reid, who was transferred to principal at Frohardt grade school.

The board accepted the resignation of William Ray Marshall as Frohardt school principal due to health reasons. He is to be assigned to a fifth or sixth grade teaching position.

Raymond Tom Jones, sixth grade teacher at Frohardt, was appointed assistant principal of Prather junior high school.

Lowder Truant Officer

Named truant officer was James R. Lowder who served as chief of detectives for the Granite City police department before he retired two years ago and became chief of police at DeSoto, Mo.

Lowder will receive $555 a month for nine months' work each year, will provide his own pay, plus reimbursement for his special deputy bond. He will report to Bob J. Davis, administrative assistant, and will work with principals and counselors.

State law empowers the truant officer to verbally or by mail order parents to return their children to school, subject to fine and jail penalties.

A position of assistant principal at Coolidge junior high school remains vacant, and a recommendation is to be made later. Ira Brooks Holder previously resigned from the post to join the Southern Illinois University staff.

Mulach was employed by the school district in September 1957, and initially taught physical education at Marshall school. He transferred to Central in 1960. He holds a master's degree in education from Washington University, is married and lives in St. Louis.

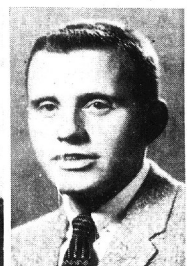

Jones, who succeeds Eugene Propes as assistant principal at Prather, served several months of the last semester as acting principal at Frohardt school and is in charge of the Head Start program for pre-school children

NEW TRUANT OFFICER appointed by the Granite City school board is James Lowder, former chief of detectives in the Granite City police department and former police chief at DeSoto, Mo.

RAYMOND TOM JONES, Frohardt grade school teacher, acting principal and director of the "Head Start" program, who will be assistant principal of Prather junior high school.

JOHN MULACH, English and social studies teacher at Central junior high school, who has been appointed as principal of McKinley elementary school.
